Groups sue city, state over Flint water crisis

By Nellie Chapman, Lake Andes Wave 02/06/16 8:38 AM

Dave Murray, a spokesman for Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder, said. Wednesday the state's top priority is "making sure the people of Flint immediately have access to safe, clean water, and that includes reaching every home to supply water, filters, replacement filter cartridges and water testing kits".

Flint food establishments urged to get water inspections

By AP for Detroit Free Press 02/06/16 7:43 AM

Officials are encouraging food establishments in Flint to take advantage of free water safety inspections being offered amid the city's crisis with lead-tainted water. Michigan Lt. Gov. Brian Calley joined other officials on Friday to show how the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development and the Genesee County Health Department are working with restaurants, bars, food markets and food processors to ensure safety.

Beyond Flint: In The South, Another Water Crisis Has Been Unfolding For Years

By NPR 02/06/16 6:20 AM

It's not simply Flint that has bad water. The Michigan city, which has grabbed headlines recently for its rampant water contamination, is joined in that dubious distinction by another town, much farther south: St. Joseph, La. "It's just a given fact that at some point during the week, you're going to have brown or yellow water," says resident Garrett Boyte. Boyte says there have been problems with the water there for a decade, but it's only in the past few weeks that St. Joseph has gotten any media attention.

As Flint Fought to Be Heard, Virginia Tech Team Sounded Alarm

By Mitch Smith, New York Times 02/06/16

The young scientists, mostly in their 20s and counting the semesters until their next degree, had drawn an audience so large that it spilled from the auditorium on the Virginia Tech campus into two overflow rooms. They were explaining to students, members of the faculty and guests how they were at first laughed off by government regulators about 550 miles northwest of here in Flint, Mich., when they detected alarming amounts of lead coming from residents' taps.

Lead Test Results Confirm Worst Fears for Flint Family

By Hannah Rappleye, Adam Rivera and Tracy Connor, NBC News 02/06/16 5:19 AM

Deep down, the Brown family knew the water that had flowed through the pipes in their home in Flint, Michigan — the water that 3-year-old Dana had been drinking for months before anyone was warned — probably contained toxic lead. This week, they got test results that confirmed their fears. Water Defense, the anti-fracking and safe-water activist group headed by actor Mark Ruffalo, collected samples from Oscar and Elizabeth Brown's home last weekend and brought them to an independent lab in Cincinnati for analysis. The results, which the group shared with NBC News, show that the water coming out of the kitchen faucet, where a filter was installed after state officials finally confirmed the lead crisis this fall, didn't contain any of the heavy metal. But a sample of the water from the bathtub, which is unfiltered, contained 16 parts per billion, higher than the threshold of 15 ppb that federal regulators say is the point at which a water system must take action to protect public health.

Detroit Pistons legend recalls 'bustling town' before Flint water crisis

By Eric Woodyard, MLIVE 02/05/16 5:11 PM

The Flint that Detroit Pistons legend Bob Lanier remembers from the 1970s is far different than the one being portrayed around the world with the city's water crisis. In those days, Lanier would occasionally roll into town with his former Pistons teammate and friend Justus Thigpen -- the city's first NBA player.

How bad government caused the Flint water crisis

By Kyle Feldscher, Washington Examiner 02/06/16 12:01 AM [\[radio clip\]](#)

There's lead in the water here, a lot in some parts of the city. So much that officials are wondering if it might overwhelm the filters handed out by the National Guardsmen who've been called here. The water of the Flint River was so polluted and acidic that it ate away at the lead pipes carrying water to the city's homes, leaching it into glasses and cups that quenched the thirst of babies and adults alike.

Chicago principal organizes Flint water crisis relief effort

By Roberto Acosta, MLIVE 02/06/16 1:27 AM

It's been a few years since Lisa Epstein called Flint her stomping ground, but the principal at R.H. Lee Elementary in the West Lawn neighborhood on Chicago's southwest side still has the city in her heart. Epstein, along with Flint natives Melissa Lederer and Gaynor Eisenberg, helped organize a drive that will provide more than 2,000 cases of bottled water to residents in the city.

By Garret Ellison, MLIVE 02/06/16 6:47 AM

A Kalamazoo man sentenced to probation for crawling into an Enbridge pipeline as an act of civil disobedience will face a judge this month after a social media post critical of Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder's handling of the Flint water crisis resulted in a violation. Christopher G. Wahmhoff, 37, will face Judge John Hallacy in Calhoun County Circuit Court on Feb. 22 after a comment on Facebook was cited as "threatening behavior" by his probation officer in a show cause affidavit.

Snyder aide: No reason to brief gov on Legionnaires'

By Matthew Dolan, Detroit Free Press 02/06/16 6:36 AM

Gov. Rick Snyder's point man for the state's response to the Flint water crisis said he did not brief the governor about a growing Legionnaires' outbreak in the Flint area until January of this year despite first learning about a potential problem in March 2015. Harvey Hollins III, director of Michigan's Office of Urban and Metropolitan Initiatives, said in an interview Friday that he received an e-mail from a Department of Environmental Quality official in March about concerns over Legionnaires' disease in Genesee County. But Hollins said he told the e-mail's author, former DEQ spokesman Brad Wurfel, in a follow-up call, that there was not enough information for him to take the issue to the governor.

FLINT UPDATE: DEQ administrator has now been fired because of the water crisis

By John McNeill, WIN 98.5 02/06/16 5:53 AM

Another head has rolled over the Flint water crisis. One of the two DEQ supervisors who were suspended last month, has become the latest to lose their job and the first to be fired because of their role in the Flint water crisis. Liane Shekter Smith had served as chief of DEQ's Office of Drinking Water. Terminating a state employee involves several steps because of Civil Service rules, that begin with suspension, is followed by an investigation and then a recommendation.

Is inequality to blame for water crisis?

By Boychuk & Mathis, Times Record News 02/06/16 3:00 AM

Department of Justice officials this past week said the FBI and other federal criminal investigators would look into whether the water poisoning crisis in Flint, Mich., was the result of criminal wrongdoing. Local officials and activists say the crisis' roots reach back years and are a result of steady economic decline along with state and federal government neglect. If Flint were a prosperous city, would the water supply have been cleaned up sooner? Or is this just another case of incompetent government?

Expand lead testing

By Editorial Board, Citizens Voice 02/06/16

The manner by which many children in Flint, Michigan have been harmed by lead exposure is particularly galling. But the level of dismay regarding Flint is matched by complacency regarding children's lead exposure elsewhere, including Pennsylvania cities. Flint children were exposed after a manager appointed by Gov. Rick Snyder to run the troubled city decided to save money by switching the city's water supply from a clean system to the heavily polluted Flint River. Then, the state government ignored residents' complaints about water quality and advice to add anti-corrosive agents to the water to prevent the leaching of lead from old pipes.

Hundreds attend University of Michigan talk on Flint water crisis

By Carlos Delgado, World Socialist Web 02/06/16

Hundreds of students, faculty and community members gathered into a lecture hall at the University of Michigan's School of Public Health in Ann Arbor on Wednesday to hear Dr. Mona Hanna-Attisha deliver a talk on the roots and the devastating social impact of the Flint water crisis.

Political poison

By The Daily News, 02/06/16 12:33 AM

One big difference between the rich and the poor in our country is that the rich don't tend to have their drinking water poisoned by their own governor. Not that Republican Governor Rick Snyder personally dumped poison into Flint, Michigan's water. But by dumping his small-minded, ideological, budget-whacking policies on the people of this largely poor community, he did, in fact, poison them.

Problems in Detroit, Flint show rift over emergency managers

By Loren Pratt, Sinema Blaze 02/06/16

Republican presidential candidate Jeb Bush praised Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder for accepting responsibility over the water crisis in Flint. He and Detroit senior Arthur Cofield said their faith in their political leaders was shaken after learning of how the city switched to the local Flint River as a temporary water source as a cost-saving measure until a regional water system was finished. He wrote that the city "stands on the precipice of civil unrest" because of mistrust of the water supply, and asked the state of MI to forgive a $21 million debt Flint owed to a state fund for improving water safety.

Michigan governor: solve Flint water crisis instead of laying blame

By WTVB AM 02/05/16 12:12 PM

Michigan Governor Rick Snyder said on Friday he wants officials to focus on solving problems around lead-contaminated drinking water in the city of Flint instead of laying blame as he said some have been doing. "There are a number of folk out there that are spending their time mainly on the political side and the blame side," he said at a meeting in Flint of local and state officials responding to the crisis.

Former state treasurer blames "hostility" toward Michigan cities for financial struggles

By Josh Hakala, Michigan Radio 02/05/16 7:40 PM

Former Michigan Treasurer Robert Kleine added another layer to the debate about what caused the Flint water crisis. Decisions made by Flint's emergency manager led to the water crisis, but Kleine says the EMs aren't given enough tools to fix the problems in these struggling cities. In his op-ed in The Washington Post, entitled "Rick Snyder isn't the only Michigan leader who abandoned Flint," he says the state government's "hostility" toward cities and revenue sharing cuts is making the job of an emergency manager that much harder.

PR expert: "No turning point in sight" in Gov. Snyder's handling of Flint water crisis

By Josh Hakala, Michigan Radio 02/05/16 7:40 PM

In the coming months, there will continue to be much debate and discussion over the Flint water crisis. Who made the wrong decisions, and who knew what, when? What about a discussion about the way Gov. Rick Snyder's team, and the governor himself, have handled what has been a public relations nightmare?

UM Law School postpones Snyder panel amid controversy

By Jennifer Calfas, Michigan Radio 02/05/16 6:45 PM

Organizers at the University of Michigan Law School postponed an event, which drew some controversy, which was to feature Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder. The event's page online has been updated to include the following statement: "The organizers of the event do not wish to distract from efforts devoted to higher priorities in the state and have postponed this event."

Michigan Gov. Snyder defends handling of Legionnaires' outbreak in Flint

By Chicago Tribune 02/05/16 9:21 PM

Michigan Gov. Rick Snyder on Friday defended how his office responded to an email flagging a potential link between a surge in Legionnaires' disease and Flint's water, saying an aide asked for further investigation but a state agency did not bring forward the issue again. The governor, who has come under criticism for not publicly disclosing the spike in Legionnaires' cases until 10 months later, told The Associated Press that his director of urban initiatives, Harvey Hollins, asked the Department of Environmental Quality to look into it after getting the March email.

GOP Senators Launch Probe of EPA Role in Flint Water Crisis

By Cathy Burke, Newsmax 02/05/16 9:44 PM

Three GOP senators are launching an inquiry into the Environmental Protection Agency's part in the Flint, Mich., water contamination crisis – and are taking its top official to task for shirking blame. Sens. David Vitter of Louisiana, James Inhofe of Oklahoma and John Cornyn of Texas fired off a letter Thursday night to EPA's administrator, Gina McCarthy, asking for all correspondence, including between EPA headquarters and the regional administrator, on the water quality crisis, Vitter announced in a statement Friday.

Flint Michigan Water Crisis: Dogs Testing Positive For Lead Toxicity

By Mike Clark, Dogtime 02/05/16

The citizens have been encouraged to boil their drinking water, but cases of lead poisoning keep coming in. And now, those cases include dogs. Two dogs in Genesee County tested positive for lead toxicity according to the state veterinarian, Dr. James Averill. State officials aren't releasing many other details such as how much lead they had in their systems or what their symptoms were. One was a stray, and the other was a pet. Both are still alive. Symptoms of lead poisoning can include malaise, arthritis, and mental dullness.

The Republican Refusal to Aid Flint

By Editorial Board, New York Times 02/05/16

The water crisis in Flint, Mich., has elicited a lot more hand-wringing and apologies than concrete actions to provide for the needs of children and adults whose health may be damaged by water from pipes that are leaching lead into taps all over the city. The state government, whose officials caused this crisis, has been loath to commit substantial funds to long-term needs, and Congress, under the control of Republicans, is finding excuses not to rescue this poverty-stricken, majority-black city of nearly 100,000 people.

Michigan Water Regulator Fired for Role in Flint Crisis as Fallout Continues

By Mitch Smith, New York Times 02/05/16

A high-ranking Michigan regulator was fired Friday for her role in the drinking water crisis in Flint, broadening the fallout from a situation that has endangered the health of children, prompted criminal investigations and become an issue in the presidential campaign. Liane Shekter Smith, who led the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality's Drinking Water and Municipal Assistance unit, was fired after a disciplinary conference. Her firing followed the resignations in December of the department's director, Dan Wyant, and chief spokesman, Brad Wurfel, both of whom were criticized for failing to recognize the scope of Flint's water problems and for belittling those who attempted to raise alarms. A fourth employee, who worked under Ms. Shekter Smith, has been suspended.

By WEYI, KVI 02/05/16

The hearing is titled, "The Flint Water Crisis: Lessons for Protecting America's Children." A spokesperson for Governor Snyder's office tells NBC 25 the governor will not attend the hearing and will spend the day presenting his 2017 budget recommendations in Lansing. This committee does not have subpoena power.

Ralph Nader questions GM handling of Flint water switch

By Michael Wayland, Detroit News 02/05/16 7:47 PM

Consumer advocate Ralph Nader is questioning if General Motors Co. did enough to raise awareness of potential problems with Flint's treatment of water months before high levels of lead were discovered. The 81-year-old political activist raised his concerns in a letter to GM CEO Mary Barra that was released to news media Friday afternoon by Nader's Washington, D.C.-based Center for Study of Responsive Law.
